Spanish Report a Disaster at Santiago.

A CRUISER WAS TORPEDOED.

They Say It Was the Auxiliary Vessel Merrimac.

NOT A CRUISER, BUT A COLLIER.

An Officer, an Engineer and Six Seamen Said to Have Been Taken Prisoners. Only the Funnel and Mastheads of the Sunken Vessel Can Be Seen-The Ship Made a Dash to Force the Entrance Succeeded In Passing the First Line of Defenses-Torpedoed About 500 Feet Up the Channel-A Second Spanish Fleet Said to Be Nearing Santiago. This Report Comes From English Sources-Said to Have 16 Warships.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, June 4.- The American squadron again began a bombardment of the fortifications of Santiago de Cuba yesterday morning and a lively cannonade ensued for two hours, which silenced the Spanish batteries.

An American vessel, the Merrimac. described in the advices from Santiago de Cnba as an auxiliary cruiser, making a dash to force the entrance, succeeded in passing the first line of defenses, but was torpedoed about 500 feet up the channel.

She went down "perpendicularly." An officer, an engineer and six seamen were taken prisoners. The number of victims is unknown.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 2.-(Delayed in transmission.) The correspondent here of The Associated Press has been informed from an apparently authentic source, at Port Antonio, this island, that a Spanish fleet from Cadiz is nearing West Indian waters and, should it arrive on the prearranged schedule, it will be off Santiago de Cuba tomorrow in order to reinforce the fleet of ten days. Admiral Cervera. The Spanish fleet is said to consist of 16 warships, among them being battleships and three torpedoboats. This comes from English sources.

CAPE HAITIEN, June 4.—A dispatch from Santiago says that the vessel sunk is understood to be the Merrimac. Only the extremities of her funnel and two masts are visible above the water.

The Santiago advices to Cape Haitien in referring to the sunken vessel as an auxiliary cruiser, probably mistake her character. The Merrimac is a collier and always has been a collier.

REPORT BY SCHLEY.

fells of Recomnaisance at Santiago. Problem of the Mined Channel. Second Fleet Not Feared.

Washington, June 4.—The navy department bulletined the following report from Commodore Schley: "Secretary Navy, Washington:

"Made reconnaissance this afternoon, May 31, with the Massachusetts, Iowa and New Orleans to develop fortifications, with their character. The fire was returned without delay by the heavy batteries to the east, lorge caliber, long range. The range was 7,000 yards. Reconnaissance developed satisfactorily the presence of the Spanish squadron lying behind the island, near the upper fort, as they fired over the hill at random. Quite satisfied the Spanish fleet is here. "SCHLEY." Spanish fleet is here.

It appears from the bulletin given out that Commodore Schley concentrated a pretty good fire upon the Spanish defenses, and it seems probable that had he found conditions more propitious than they were, he would have resolved the reconnoissance into an assault in

The great natural strength of the Spanish position and the formidable character of their batteries as indicated by Commodore Schley have confirmed the naval officials in the belief that they have been wise not to direct any such reckless assault upon the place in the absence of proper forces as has been advocated in some quarters. The problem would be simplified were it known that there were no mines in the channel.

As it is, the problem presented has enlisted the active interest of the army engineers as well as of the naval officers here. It is the duty of the army engineers in this country to lay just such mines as are supposed to be in place in Santiago harbor, and they are curious to see how their brothers in the navy propose to go about the work of destroying them. A good deal has been written in the text books about countermining, and many theories have been brought forward to show how this can our engineer officers these theories have never been satisfactorily tested, and there is no case on record of successful countermining against modern improved electrical mines. It remains to be seen how Sampson is going to solve this problem, whether by the use of the Vesuvius with her dynamite projectiles, by the aid of divers or by re-course to the old method of dragging for the mines with small boats as in cable-cutting operations.

The owners of the Holland subma-rine boat, who had proposed to go into Santiago harbor and destroy the Spanish warships at so much a vessel, have come forward with a request for a praccal test by the naval officers of their craft. The navy department was obliged to decline the first proposition, as it smacked of privateering and was in violation of international law. The principal objection was that the boat could not be in regular commission and in command of a naval officer. Besides, they contended that she had never been thoroughly tested. Now the boat's owners propose that a naval officer or officers be designated to go down in the Holland, and then that she be commis-

Notwithstanding the rather positive statement coming from Jamaica, to the effect that the second Spanish fleet from Cadız has crossed the Atlantic and is about to join Cervera at Santiago, the officers of the navy department refuse to be frightened at what they declare to be a bugaboo. It appears that the basis of their confidence is a telegraphic report declaring that the Cadiz fleet is still at Cadiz. Moreover, they know that there are not so many as 16 warships in that fleet.

LONDON, June 4.—A most unique and significant, as well as one of the most enthusiastic banquets ever given in London, was the Anglo-American banquet, given last evening at the Hotel Cecil.

Six hundred Britons and Americans assembled fraternally. It was a wholly unofficial celebration, excluded the em-

American and British flags were draped over the tables, at which were both men and women with "the flag of the future," the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes blended, on coats of arms. All wore buttons emblazoned with the two flags surmounting the Canadian beaver.

Among the banqueters were the Earl of Carlisle, Viscount Powerscourt, Sir of Carlisle, Viscount Powerscourt, Sir Norman Locyer, Sir Frederick Pollock, Sir Richard Temple, Lord Beresford, the Dean of Hereford, the Rev. Newman Hall, Mr. Hiram Maxim and Mr. George W. Ward, manager of the Commercial Cable company.

Literature and journalism were represented by Sir John Robinson, manager of The Daily News; Mr. Alfred Harmsworth, proprietor of The Daily Mail and Evening News; Mr. William T. Stead.

Evening News; Mr. William T. Stead. editor of The Review of Reviews; Sir Walter Besant, Mr. Anthony Hope, Dr. Conan Doyle and Miss Beatrice Har-

Lord Bernard Coleridge presided. Toasts to the queen and to the president of the United States were honored accompanied by the strain of "God Save the Queen" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Lord Coleridge, in proposing the health of President McKinley, said: "Where can the old world show such a line of rulers of men as have been the free choice of the American people?"

Fraternity and the future alliance pervaded all the speeches. The speakers were the Bishop of Ripon (the Rt. Rev. William Boyd Carpenter), Lord Brassey, Colonel Taylor, president of the American society in London; Sir George William Des Voeux, Mr. Newton Crain, former president of the society in London; Earl Guy, Prof. Albert von Dicey, Mr. George W. Cable and Sir Frederick Pollock, corpus professor of jurisprudence at Oxford.

The English speakers lauded the achievements of the revolution as enthusiastically as if they should have been their own victories. "Mother country" and "sons beyond the sea" were phrases reiterated by the speakers.

The bishop of Ripon excited the greatest enthusiasm by a pointed reference to the war, saying that, although both nations had been accused of worshiping the dollar, "we both know when to spend our money and we know that some causes are worth spending any price for."

Lord Coleridge hoped that victory might perch upon the American ban-ner, "in the interest of Spain and in the interest of common humanity.

"Twice America has fought with all her might," he said; "the first fight was forced by the imbecility of the king and she was right (cheering); the second time she fought for the freedom of slaves and the same spirit is with her [Tremendous cheering.]

He advocated a permanent tribunal for the settlement of international differences. Lord Brassey said there were closer ties than a written alliance, ties which could not be broken. Colonel Taylor raised a hurricane of cheering by saying: "As you have stood by us in our day of trial, when your day of trial comes count upon us."

Sir Frederick Pollock replied predicting that there would be "one fleet under two flags to keep the peace of the world."

A number of telegrams of congratulation were read from British and American bodies here and abroad.

PRESIDENT REPORTED CONFIDENT. Indicated to Several Representatives That Hawaii Would Be Annexed.

Kinley discussed the question of Hawaiian annexation with several representatives who were in conference with him yesterday. He told them it was of the utmost importance that the two houses of congress take prompt action upon the resolution. He indicated that he had received assurances of a majority in the senate who will vote for annexation and is therefore confident that it will become a law.

It seems to be generally understood that the resolution will be brought up in the house promptly next week. One proposition is to call it up next Tuesday on the call of committees. A bill considered in this way is subject to all parliamentary motions. This plan has been presented to Chairman Hitt of the foreign affairs committee: Members of that committee are of the opinion that the resolution may be gotten through in two or three days.

FOR A BOND ISSUE.

The Feature Incorporated In War Revenue Bill-Coining of the Silver Seigniorage Passed.

Washington, June 4 .- While the war revenue measure was not passed by the senate yesterday, two very important votes were taken, one on a proposition to coin the silver bullion in the treasury and to issue silver certificates against the coin and the other one on the bond proposition presented by the Republican minority of the committee on tinance.

In lieu of the seigniorage mendment offered by the majority of the finance committee, Mr. Wolcott (Rep., Colo.) proposed an amendment directing the secretary of the treasury to coin the silver bullion in the treasury and to issue silver certificates against it After some discussion a vote was reached and the amendment was agreed to, 48 to 31, several Republicans voting for it.

Mr. Aldrich (Rep., R. I.) then pressed the amendment of the minority of the finance committee, providing for the issue of $100,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness and $300,000,000 of bonds, to be used exclusively for the payment of the expenses of the war. After an extended debate the question was brought to an issue, and by the decisive vote of 45 to 31 the bond amendment was incorporated in the bill, as a substitute for the amendment to issue legal tender

The bond proposition received the votes of 37 Republicans, 7 Democrats and 1 Populist. The Democrats who voted for it were Messrs. Caffery, Faulkner, Gorman, Gray, Lindsay, Mitchell and Murphy, and the Populist was Mr. Kyle. No Republicans voted against the issue of bonds, the votes in opposicrats, 5 Populists and 5 Silver Republicans.

Just before adjournment last evening a sensational speech was made by Mr. Wolcott (Rep., Colo.), in reply to some suggestions concerning the bimetallic commission made by Mr. Allen (Pop., Neb.). Mr. Wolcott regarded Mr. Allen's statements as personally offensive and he made a lashing attack upon the Nebraska senator and the Populist

A Negro the Victim of a Mob In Louisiana.

HAD ASSAULTED A WOMAN.

BURNING A SICKENING SIGHT.

About 1,000 People Gathered to See It Near Doyline, About 18 Miles From Shreveport-A Post Erected Near a Railroad Track-Light Wood and Kindling Saturated With Coal Oil-The Victim Then Chained to the Post-In About Ten Minutes He Was a Charred Mass-Lawyers Made Speeches of Warn ing to Negroes Present-The Negro Confessed His Crime to a Colored Minister-His Victim In Critical Condition.

SHREVEPORT, La., June 4.-About 1,000 people gathered at Doyline, which is situated on the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific railroad, about 18 miles from here, to witness the burning at the stake of William Street, a negro, who attempted the ruin and murder of Mrs. Parish. The crime was committed on the night of May 30.

The people erected a post near the railroad track near the town, quietly laid the light wood and kindling saturated with coal oil, preparatory to chaining Street to the post. Street was a gingerbread colored man of about 28 years of age. He confessed the crime to a colored minister, but said a negro minister named John Rhodes was implicated. When going to the stake he looked frightened and refused to have anything to say. He was tied to the stake and uttered not a word as the great crackling flames shot up in succession above his head.

It was a sickening sight, which lasted about ten minutes, when Street was a charred mass.

Well known lawyers made speeches, warning the crowd of negroes that such crimes as Street had committed would not be tolerated.

The woman whom Street assaulted is in a most critical condition, and could not identify Street when caught until a doctor held open her eye lids.

THE TENTH INSPECTED.

General Otis Much Pleased-Pennsylvania Troops May Leave For Manila Next Week.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—The second expedition to the Philippines will probably get under way next Tuesday or Wednesday. It will not reach the proportions at first anticipated, owing to the fact that the five vessels which were to have made up the little fleet of transports are not deady, nor will any of them be ready by the time stated, unless the government hurries the supplies which have been decided upon to make up the cargoes of the vessels.

An order was issued from General Merritt's headquarters designating the full companies of the Eighteenth and Twenty-third regiments of United States infantry as a part of the second expedition. So far as known the troops to go besides these regulars will be the Tenth Pennsylvania, First Colorado and Seventh California, four batteries of the Third United States artillery and four troops of the United States cavalry. It is possible that one of the Minnesota regiments will also go.
The Colorado and Pennsylvania volunteers were inspected by General Otis. The men appeared in heavy marching order and were put through the usual military manœuvres. General Otis expressed himself as much pleased with the result of the inspection.

Consumed Much Time.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The house yesterday consumed much time, but without result, considering a bill to authorize the president to restore to his rank and duty Major Joseph W. Wham, paymaster in the army, who was suspended in 1890, upon half pay, until 1904, through courtmartial proceedings and executive action.

It is said that 20 of the soldiers were killed and that 18 were wounded.

Mr. Aldrich (Rep., R. I.) then pressed the amendment of the minority of the finance committee, providing for the issue of $100,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness and $300,000,000 of bonds, to be used exclusively for the payment of the expenses of the war. After an extended debate the question was brought to an issue, and by the decisive vote of 45 to 31 the bond amendment was incorporated in the bill, as a substitute for the amendment to issue legal tender

The bond proposition received the votes of 37 Republicans, 7 Democrats and 1 Populist. The Democrats who voted for it were Messrs. Caffery, Faulkner, Gorman, Gray, Lindsay, Mitchell and Murphy, and the Populist was Mr. Kyle. No Republicans voted against the issue of bonds, the votes in opposition to bonds being cast by 21 Democrats, 5 Populists and 5 Silver Republicans.

Just before adjournment last evening a sensational speech was made by Mr. Wolcott (Rep., Colo.), in reply to some suggestions concerning the bimetallic commission made by Mr. Allen (Pop., Neb.). Mr. Wolcott regarded Mr. Allen's statements as personally offensive and he made a lashing attack upon the Nebraska senator and the Populist party.

About 1,000 People Gathered to See It Near Doyline, About 18 Miles From Shreveport-A Post Erected Near a Railroad Track-Light Wood and Kindling Saturated With Coal Oil-The Victim Then Chained to the Post-In About Ten Minutes He Was a Charred Mass-Lawyers Made Speeches of Warn ing to Negroes Present-The Negro Confessed His Crime to a Colored Minister-His Victim In Critical Condition.

SHREVEPORT, La., June 4.-About 1,000 people gathered at Doyline, which is situated on the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific railroad, about 18 miles from here, to witness the burning at the stake of William Street, a negro, who attempted the ruin and murder of Mrs.

The people erected a post near the railroad track near the town, quietly laid the light wood and kindling saturated with coal oil, preparatory to chaining Street to the post. Street was a gingerbread colored man of about 28 years of age. He confessed the crime to a colored minister, but said a negro minister named John Rhodes was implicated. When going to the stake he looked frightened and refused to have anything to say. He was tied to the stake and uttered not a word as the great crackling flames shot up in succession above his head.

It was a sickening sight, which lasted about ten minutes, when Street was a charred mass.

Well known lawyers made speeches, warning the crowd of negroes that such crimes as Street had committed would not be tolerated.

The woman whom Street assaulted is in a most critical condition, and could not identify Street when caught until a doctor held open her eye lids.

THE TENTH INSPECTED.

General Otis Much Pleased-Pennsylvania Troops May Leave For Manila Next Week.

San Francisco, June 4.—The second expedition to the Philippines will probably get under way next Tuesday or Wednesday. It will not reach the proportions at first anticipated, owing to the fact that the five vessels which were to have made up the little fleet of transports are not deady, nor will any of them be ready by the time stated, unless the government hurries the sup-plies which have been decided upon to make up the cargoes of the vessels. An order was issued from General Merritt's headquarters designating the full companies of the Eighteenth and Twenty-third regiments of United States infantry as a part of the second expedition. So far as known the troops to go besides these regulars will be the Tenth Pennsylvania, First Colorado and Seventh California, four batteries of the Third United States artillery and four troops of the United States cavalry. It is possible that one of the Minnesota regiments will also go.

The Colorado and Pennsylvania volunteers were inspected by General Otis. The men appeared in heavy marching order and were put through the usual military manœuvres. General Otis expressed himself as much pleased with the result of the inspection.

INDIAN MAGIC.

It Is Often Beyond the Power of the Wisest to Explain It.

One need not go to the realms of space, or time, or figures to meet with the incomprehensible. Despite modern science and ingenuity this word still remains the only applicable epithet for some of the achievements of Indian conjurers. We can smile at the luminous appearance of the beautiful face before which as the revelation of Osiris the old Egyptians prostrated themselves in awe-for the marvels of the magic lantern are familiar to us, the early existence of gunpowder gives an easy explanation of the oracle's lightning and thunder, the weird harmony of Memnon was merely the result of an ingenious mechanical contrivance-but shrewd travelers of later date, whose veracity is beyond dispute, tell of much more inexplicable things than these. One of the best known writers on occultism, Jacolliot, has left an account of certain things he saw during his official sojourn in India which, as they seem to defy explanation, may fairly be classed among things incomprehensible. The performer was one whom he accidentally met and who required some persuasion before he would exhibit feats which, he continually affirmed, were the work of other intelli-

On some sticks fixed upright in flowerpots were placed some leaves from a tree, with holes in each sufficiently large to make them fall to the level of the mold. Standing at a considerable distance, the fakir made a gesture with his hands. A slight breeze seemed to pervade the room, then the leaves quivered and gradually worked upward on the sticks. Jacolliot placed himself between the flowerpots and the operator, placed the sticks in the flooring and adopted every means he could imagine to frustrate any trickery, but nothing he did made any difference to the movement of the leaves.

The more familiar feat of the seemingly supernatural growth of flowers was utterly eclipsed by another instance vouched for by the same narrator. His own servant brought him a score or so of seeds, from which he selected and marked one. The fakir planted it in a pot of earth, muttered some words over it and fell into a sort of trance, which lasted about 30 minutes. He then awoke, uncovered the pot and discovered a seedling two or three inches high. Jacolliot examined it and found it had sprung from the seed which he had

With a touch of a peacock's feather the fakir depressed a balance of a common weighing machine in daily use in the household, though in the other was a weight of 12 stone, and with a distant motion of his hand he made shavings of wood to sink or move in water. Still more marvelous is the description of the manner in which this veritable eastern wizard was able to set at defiance the law of gravity. On this occasion, when leaving the room, he paused on the threshold, folded his arms, and, by a simple act of volition, raised himself from the floor and remained poised in air for some minutes. - London Standard.

How a Dying Pheasant Influenced His Whole Career.

The celebrated Russian novelist, Turgeneff, tells a most touching incident from his own life, which awakened in him sentiments that have colored all his writings with a deep and tender feeling.

When Turgeneff was a boy of 10, his father took him out one day bird shooting. As they tramped across the brown stubble a golden pheasant rose with a low whir from the ground at his feet, and with the joy of a sportsman throbbing his veins he raised his gun and fired, wild with excitement, when the creature fell fluttering at his side. Life was ebbing fast, but the instinct of the mother was stronger than death itself, and with a feeble flutter of her wings the mother bird reached the nest where her young brood were huddled, unconscious of danger. Then, with such a look of pleading and reproach that his heart stood still at the ruin he had wrought, and never to his dying day did he forget the feeling of cruelty and guilt that came to him in that moment, the little brown head toppled over, and only the dead body of the mother shielded her nestlings.

"Father, father," he cried, "what have I done?" as he turned his horror stricken face to his father. But not to his father's eye had this little tragedy been enacted, and he said: "Well done, my son. That was well done for your first shot. You will soon be a fine sportsman."

"Never, father, never again shall I destroy any living creature. If that is sport, I will have none of it. Life is more beautiful to me than death, and since I cannot give life I will not take it."-Atlanta Constitution.

Captured the Collier Restormel Under the Guns of a Spanish Fort.

New York, June 4 .- The auxiliary cruiser St. Paul is in these waters. Captain Sigsbee praised the work of his men for their work with the guns, although they have not been in the servvice long. He further said in part:

"It was on the 25th when we captured the Restormel. I knew that the Spaniards needed the coal very badly, and I made every effort to see that they did not get it.

"While off Santiago with Schley saw two more Spanish cruisers and Schley saw two torpedoboats. There is no question that they are bottled up as tight as can be in Santiago harbor.

"I went in so close that I made sketches of their fortifications, which I am sending to Washington.

"Their guns could easily have reached me, but the batteries made no attempt to fire, for what reason I do not know It may be the Spaniards did not want to reveal the strength and location of their guns. I am going to Washington with dispatches from the fleet, and as soon as we have coaled and provisioned we shall put to sea again. This probably will not be for three or four days.

"It was directly under the guns of a the Restormel with 2,400 tons of coal aboard.

"This coal was evidently intended for the Spanish fleet, and the attempt of the Restormel to run our blockade and enter Santiago harbor would of itself have been good evidence that the Spanish were there."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning June 5. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, The Trial and Triumph of Prayer.

SCRIPTURE READING.-I Kings xviii, 42-46. At few periods in history has the worship of the true God been mere unpopular than in the reign of Ahab, king of Israel. After the revolt of the ten tribes, in the time of Rehoboam, the people of the northern part of the land had forsaken the temple worship of Jerusalem. Idolatry had increased under each succeeding reign. Ahab, by marrying the daughter of the king of Sidon, secured a brilliant political alliance, but sank his people lower in moral iniquity. Jerebel brought the worship of Baal from Sidon and Ahab erected a temple in Samaria and planted an idolatrous grove for the debasing worship of this vile deity.

Elijah, the prophet, denounced the sins of the king and the people. The queen put to death the prophets of Jehovah as far as she could find them and supported hundreds of the priests of the false god at her own expense.

Elijah threatened drought and famine for the wickedness of the nation. For 31/2 years no rain fell. The utmost distress prevailed. The king sought Elijah among all neighboring nations, but could not find him. Finally the prophet, at the command of Jehovah, met the king and told him to gather the people of Israel and priests of Baal at Carmel. A test was to be made of the spirit of the people and their religious loyalty.

Most dramatic was the fire test proposed by Elijah and accepted by the Baalites. The "sun god," as Baal was called, would naturally be expected to answer the prayers of his people and send fire to consume the sacrifice offered to him. All in vain, however, were the cries of his devotees for his help.

Elijah calls on Jehovah to send fire and consume the bullock offered on His altar. The fire comes and burns all. The people shout their pledge of allegiance to the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel. At the command of the prophet the priests of the false god are slain.

Then comes the supreme test of faith. Will the true God send rain on the parched earth? Will the God of heaven who has for long months shut the windows of the sky from dew and rain and shown the people that Jehovan rules the elements, and not the sun god Baal, will this God now send showers and revive the dry earth?

On the hillside of Carmel sits the man of Jehovah with face between his knees in silent, strong prayer, while his servant seven times climbs the hilltop watching for signs of rain from the great sea. At last the cloud rises, the MADE ME A MAN rain comes, the drought is broken, and harvests are assured. The king rides to Jezrael, the capital. Swifter than his chariot horses is the fleet footed Elijah, who, with belted robe, speeds chead of the king.

Prayer has prevailed. Prayer always prevails. Blessings are not wrung from an unwilling God by persistent petifort and within easy range that I took | tion, but earnest expectancy and faith prepare the human soul to receive the benefits that the Heavenly Father is desirous of bestowing. Jehovah prompts the prayer as well as answers it. "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

Criticism-Just and Unjust.

Since the beginning of the year the Epworth League has been subjected to much adverse criticism. When the statistics of the past year were compiled, it was found that the Methodist Episcopal church had made a net gain in membership over deaths and all losses of less than 20,000. This was startling, since the usual showing in recent years has been from 67,000 to over 100,000 net gain in numbers.

Some have laid this decrease to the charge of the Epworth League and say that the spiritual interests of the church have been hindered by its organization and operation, that the young people have cared for their own services and neglected the regular services of the Others are certain that the League has been helpful to the denominational interests and has done valuable service in the Christian cause. The cause of the decrease is by them found elsewhere and by many it is doubted if any decrease has been seen, but only a crossing from the records of many thousands of members who are not resident in the vicinity of the local church.

Good will come of the discussion beyond doubt. It will spur the members of the League to increased fidelity to Christ and the church. It will call attention to many flaws in our economy, will cause new study of the best methods of work.

Above all this, it is specially desirable to clearly define just what the League is designed to do and what are the limitations of its sphere of influence. To many people it is plain that too much has been expected of it in some quarters and its proper position misunderstood.

Using the Means.

Many would like to be good Christians and possessed of all gentleness and loveliness-at least, they think they would-who never take any measures or use the commonest means to become such. It is one thing to desire the praise and envy the influence of one who is

I replied that I was the sicker of the two, as I could, at the time, scarcely straighten up with my back from lameness, weakness and severe pain. He asked me what my symptoms were and I explained to him that I had suffered for a number of years from my kidneys, that I had attacks at times when nothing helped me and it was agony for me to get around, but that I could not endure idleness. The secretions from the kidneys were very high colored and aciduous, that I had spells of dizziness, when I would see black specks floating before my eyes, and felt generally broken up. He looked up and said that he had the very thing I needed to cure me in the house-Doan's Kidney Pills. He went into the house and brought me out eight pills. I took them with me and used them two at a dose. The effect was astonishing to me. I felt it almost at once, and went to the W. & W. Pharmacv and bought a box and took them. Identified by a Blind Man.

A blind man picked out his dead wife in the New York morgue a few days ago by his delicate sense of touch, says an exchange. Two women, both of the same name and both of whom died in Bellevue, were taken to the deadhouse at about the same time. When the morgue keeper caught the blind man's right hand and guided it to an apturned face, he said, "No, no; that's not my Mary!" The drawer was closed, and the next one was pulled out. The sightless man laid down his stick this time and used both hands. His face was transfigured as the tips of his fingers rested on the sharp set, cold features. "Mary, he whispered, "I have found you, dear! How thin your face has grown! How cold you are, Mary-how cold!" The blind man had made no mistake. The dead woman had been his wife.

Standing at a considerable distance, the fakir made a gesture with his hands. A slight breeze seemed to pervade the room, then the leaves quivered and gradually worked upward on the sticks. Jacolliot placed himself between the flowerpots and the operator, placed the sticks in the flooring and adopted every means he could imagine to frustrate any trickery, but nothing he did made any difference to the movement of the leaves.

The more familiar feat of the seemingly supernatural growth of flowers was utterly eclipsed by another instance vouched for by the same narrator. His own servant brought him a score or so of seeds, from which he selected and marked one. The fakir planted it in a pot of earth, muttered some words over it and fell into a sort of trance, which lasted about 30 minutes. He then awoke, uncovered the pot and discovered a seedling two or three inches high. Jacolliot examined it and found it had sprung from the seed which he had marked.

With a touch of a peacock's feather the fakir depressed a balance of a common weighing machine in daily use in the household, though in the other was a weight of 12 stone, and with a distant motion of his hand he made shavings of wood to sink or move in water. Still more marvelous is the description of the manner in which this veritable eastern wizard was able to set at defiance the law of gravity. On this occasion, when leaving the room, he paused on the threshold, folded his arms, and, by a simple act of volition, raised himself from the floor and remained poised in air for some minutes. - London Standard.

How a Dying Pheasant Influenced His Whole Career.

The celebrated Russian novelist, Turgeneff, tells a most touching incident from his own life, which awakened in him sentiments that have colored all his writings with a deep and tender feeling. When Turgeneff was a boy of 10, his father took him out one day bird shooting. As they tramped across the brown stubble a golden pheasant rose with a low whir from the ground at his feet, and with the joy of a sportsman throbbing his veins he raised his gun and fired, wild with excitement, when the creature fell fluttering at his side. Life was ebbing fast, but the instinct of the mother was stronger than death itself, and with a feeble flutter of her wings the mother bird reached the nest where her young brood were huddled, unconscious of danger. Then, with such a look of pleading and reproach that his heart stood still at the ruin he had wrought, and never to his dying day did he forget the feeling of cruelty and guilt that came to him in that moment, the little brown head toppled over, and only the dead body of the mother shielded her nestlings.

"Father, father," he cried, "what have I done?" as he turned his horror stricken face to his father. But not to his father's eye had this little tragedy been enacted, and he said: "Well done, my son. That was well done for your first shot. You will soon be a fine sports-

"Never, father, never again shall I destroy any living creature. If that is sport, I will have none of it. Life is more beautiful to me than death, and since I cannot give life I will not take it."-Atlanta Constitution.

SIGSBEE PRAISED HIS MEN.

Captured the Collier Restormel Under the Guns of a Spanish Fort.

NEW YORK, June 4 .- The auxiliary cruiser St. Paul is in these waters. Captain Sigsbee praised the work of his men for their work with the guns, although they have not been in the servvice long. He further said in part:

"It was on the 25th when we captured the Restormel. I knew that the Spaniards needed the coal very badly, and I made every effort to see that they did not get it.

While off Santiago with Schley saw two more Spanish cruisers and Schley saw two torpedoboats. There is no question that they are bottled up as tight as can be in Santiago harbor.

"I went in so close that I made sketches of their fortifications, which I am sending to Washington.

"Their guns could easily have reached me, but the batteries made no attempt to fire, for what reason I do not know. It may be the Spaniards did not want to reveal the strength and location of their guns. I am going to Washington with dispatches from the fleet, and as soon as we have coaled and provisioned we shall put to sea again. This probably will not be for three or four days.

"It was directly under the guns of a fort and within easy range that I took the Restormel with 2,400 tons of coal aboard. "This coal was evidently intended for the Spanish fleet, and the attempt of the Restormel to run our blockade and enter Santiago harbor would of itself have been good evidence that the Spanish were there."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning June 5. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, The Trial and Triumph of Prayer.

SCRIPTURE READING.-I Kings xviii, 42-46. At few periods in history has the worship of the true God been mere unpopular than in the reign of Ahab, king of Israel. After the revolt of the ten tribes, in the time of Rehoboam, the people of the northern part of the land had forsaken the temple worship of Jerusatified every bishop of the American lem. Idolatry had increased under each succeeding reign. Ahab, by marrying the daughter of the king of Sidon, secured a brilliant political alliance, but sank his people lower in moral iniquity. Jerebel brought the worship of Baal from Sidon > debasing worship of this vile deity. Elijah, the prophet, denounced the sins of the king and the people. The queen put to death the prophets of Jehovah as far as she could find them and supported hundreds of the priests of the false god at her own expense.

and Ahab erected a temple in Samaria and planted an idolatrous grove for the

Elijah threatened drought and famine for the wickedness of the nation. For 31/2 years no rain fell. The utmost distress prevailed. The king sought Elijah among all neighboring nations, but could not find him. Finally the prophet, at the command of Jehovah, met the king and told him to gather the people of Israel and priests of Baal at Carmel. A test was to be made of the spirit of the people and their religious loyalty.

Most dramatic was the fire test proposed by Elijah and accepted by the Baalites. The "sun god," as Baal was called, would naturally be expected to answer the prayers of his people and send fire to consume the sacrifice offered to him. All in vain, however, were the cries of his devotees for his help.

Elijah calls on Jehovah to send fire and consume the bullock offered on His altar. The fire comes and burns all. The people shout their pledge of allegiance to the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel. At the command of the prophet the priests of the false god are slain.

Then comes the supreme test of faith. Will the true God send rain on the parched earth? Will the God of heaven who has for long months shut the windows of the sky from dew and rain and shown the people that Jehovah rules the elements, and not the sun god Baal, will this God now send showers and revive the dry earth?

On the hillside of Carmel sits the man of Jehovah with face between his knees in silent, strong prayer, while his servant seven times climbs the hilltop watching for signs of rain from the great sea. At last the cloud rises, the rain comes, the drought is broken, and harvests are assured. The king rides to Jezrael, the capital. Swifter than his chariot horses is the fleet footed Elijah, who, with belted robe, speeds shead of the king.

Prayer has prevailed. Prayer always prevails. Blessings are not wrung from an unwilling God by persistent petition, but earnest expectancy and faith prepare the human soul to receive the benefits that the Heavenly Father is desirous of bestowing. Jehovah prompts the prayer as well as answers it. "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much.'

Criticism-Just and Unjust.

Since the beginning of the year the Epworth League has been subjected to much adverse criticism. When the statistics of the past year were compiled, it was found that the Methodist Episcopal church had made a net gain in membership over deaths and all losses of less than 20,000. This was startling, since the usual showing in recent years has been from 67,000 to over 100,000 net gain in numbers.

Some have laid this decrease to the charge of the Epworth League and say that the spiritual interests of the church have been hindered by its organization and operation, that the young people have cared for their own services and neglected the regular services of the church.

Others are certain that the League has been helpful to the denominational interests and has done valuable service in the Christian cause. The cause of the decrease is by them found elsewhere and by many it is doubted if any decrease has been seen, but only a crossing from the records of many thousands of members who are not resident in the vicinity of the local church.

Good will come of the discussion beyond doubt. It will spur the members of the League to increased fidelity to Christ and the church. It will call attention to many flaws in our economy, will cause new study of the best methods of work.

Above all this, it is specially desirable to clearly define just what the League is designed to do and what are the limitations of its sphere of influence. To many people it is plain that too much has been expected of it in some quarters and its proper position misunderstood.

Using the Means.

Many would like to be good Christians and possessed of all gentleness and loveliness-at least, they think thav would-who never take any measures or use the commonest means to become such. It is one thing to desire the praise and envy the influence of one who is Stories of the Street.

East Liverpool People Are Talking About It on Every Corner.

It is sometimes an easy matter to fool the public. But you can't keep it up very long. They are sure to find you out, and every time a man is fooled another skeptic is made. Skepticism is allowable when reading in a home newspaper about some incident occurring in San Francisco or Iowa, but the circum. stances are entirely different when it refers to some one right here at home, friends and neighbors, people you know whom you can see and with whom you talk it over. This is the kind of evidence at the back of Doan's Kidney Pillshome statements by home people and the astonishing local work they have been doing has caused more talk among our citizens than the doings of any other modern wonder. Read the following: Veterinary Surgeon Green says

"While attending a sick horse belonging to Mr. G. H. Gardner, of 168 Jackson street, he remarked to me that the horse seemed to be in pain. I replied that I was the sicker of the two, as I could, at the time, scarcely straighten up with my back from lameness, weakness and severe pain. He asked me what my symptoms were and I explained to him that I had suffered for a number of years from my kidneys, that I had attacks at times when nothing helped me and it was agony for me to get around, but that I could not endure idleness. The secretions from the kidneys were very high colored and aciduous, that I had spells of dizziness, when I would see black specks floating before my eyes, and felt generally broken up. He looked up and said that he had the very thing needed to cure me in the house-Doan's Kidney Pills. He went into the house and brought me out eight pills. I took them with me and used them two at a dose. The effect was astonishing to me. I felt it almost at once, and went to the W. & W. Pharmacy and bought a box and took them. The encouragement held out to me by the first eight pills was not mythical, as by their continued use the improvement continued, and I consider no expression of praise too strong for Doan's Kidney Pills; in short, they are Ne Plus Ultra. I am 68 years of age and have no hope of ever being permanently cured, as my trouble has become chronic, but this I do know, Doan's Kidney Pilis are the best remedy for the kidneys that has ever been placed before the people of this country. Trouble with the kidneys occurs and recurs periodically, and any remedy that will ward off an attack or tide the victim over it so easily as Doan's Kidney Pills does deserve the support of the public.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box. Mailed to any address on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

A blind man picked out his dead wife in the New York morgue a few days ago by his delicate sense of touch, says an exchange. Two women, both of the same name and both of whom died in Bellevue, were taken to the deadhouse at about the same time. When the morgue keeper caught the blind man's right hand and guided it to an apturned face, he said, "No, no; that's not my Mary!" The drawer was closed, and the next one was pulled out. The sightless man laid down his stick this time and used both hands. His face was transfigured as the tips of his fingers rested on the sharp set, cold features. "Mary," he whispered, "I have found you, dear! How thin your face has grown! How cold you are, Mary-how cold!" The blind man had made no mistake. The dead woman had been his wife.

Moderation.

Let us pray for that great-I had almost said that crowning-grace and virtue of moderation, what St. Paul calls sobriety and a sound mind. Let us pray for moderate appetites, moderate passions, moderate appetites, moderate gains, moderate joys and, if sorrows be needed to chasten us, moderate sorrows. Let us not long violently after or wish too eagerly to rise in life. -Reformed Church Messenger.

The people of Columbiana county will Monaghan has taken on a military title the army.

IF that Cadiz squadron does not increase its speed it may have some difficulty in finding Admiral Cervera for the purpose of reinforcing him. Spanish seamen are not good divers.

SPAIN has made so many mistakes since the war began that anything in the way of brilliancy from that source cannot be expected. They evidently do not raise Napoleons and Farraguts in Spain.

THE movement toward Cuba has commenced, and in a short time we will know just what a Spanish boast is worth. Blanco and his officers have been doing a great deal of talking, and that is all.

Ir you have not already voted, hasten to the polls and deposit a ballot. It is your duty, as well as a privilege. Help swell the majority of those men who will give the country and county good government.

THE SOLDIERS' PAY.

By delaying the payment of the debt it owed its soldiers in the field, Ohio has done nothing to add to its credit. The soldiers earned their money long ago, and should have received it. They are not accustomed to that sort of thing, and not a little suffering and much inconvenience has been the result. Uncle Sam is not hard-fisted when it comes to the necessaries of life, but he knows nothing of luxuries in an official way, and our boys are accustomed to luxuries.

THE END OF THE WAR.

The end of the war is not far away if this government gets down to work in earnest and gives the Spanish in the West Indies the thrashing every American believes we can administer.

Europe is not going to interfere. France feels that she is already losing thousands upon thousands of dollars by her announced opposition to America and things American, and Germany is making haste to correct the belief she will stand by Spain. Italy, of course, has nothing to say, but Italy is a nonentity with troubles enough at home to keep her time well employed. The sullen Russian bear is looking toward the far east, and will do nothing so long as his own interests are not endangered, while Austria is aiding Spain in a quiet way, but saying nothing openly. The pope, it is reported, has advised the queen regent to make peace, thus leaving her almost friendless among the nations of the earth.

The NEWS REVIEW does not pretend to be an authority on strategy, but from this distance it seems that some quick action in the West Indies would so demoralize Spain as to compel her to sue for peace, which could only be granted

TROOPS SAILED FROM MOBILE

The Commander Had a Little Bundle of Sealed Orders--Remains of the Merrimac Blown Up In Santiago Harbor as They Want the Way Clear For the Cadiz Fleet When It Comes.

CAPE HAYTIEN, June 4 .- [Special]-A number of reports concerning a battle at Santiago have reached here within the last few hours, and all bear the imprint of truth. The last says that an engagement took place, and the Spanish fleet was destroyed.

There are as yet no means of confirming the reports, but the persistency with which they appear and the fact that a battle is hourly expected lends some truth to the rumor.

CAPE HAYTIEN, June 4 .- [Special]-A number of reports concerning a battle at Santiago have reached here within the last few hours, and all bear the imprint of truth. The last says that an engagement took place, and the Spanish fleet was destroyed.

There are as yet no means of confirming the reports, but the persistency with which they appear and the fact that a battle is hourly expected lends some truth to the rumor.

THINK WELL OF TRUST

Trenton Likes the Idea of the Combination.

GIVES HIS VIEWS ONE MAN

A Great Many Reasons Advanced For the Founding of Trade Clearing Houses. Does Not Think Firms Would Lose Their Individuality.

The formation of a crockery trust is finding favor in Trenton. The Trenton correspondent of a trade paper says:

"One of the general topics is the possibility, not to say probability, of a syndicate of pottery manufacturers. This subject has been talked about so much that it cannot be regarded any longer as a close secret. But the discussion of the question is quite another matter, as it has not as yet assumed that degree of tangibility which gives assurance of a positive organization.

"One man, who claims to know how these things are done, said that it was the tendency of large industrial bodies to concentrate, and that if there was no other object to be gained by it the advantage of putting a stop to misrepresentations of prices would more than compensate for all the disadvantages that might arise from minor difficulties. 'But.' he added, 'it is not necessary for individuals or firms to lose their identity by merging their concerns into one great organization. What is wanted in modern manufacturing and merchandising is a clearing house on the principle adopted by the big banking institutions—with a man at the head of it whose character shall be such that every member will place the utmost confidence in his judgment and probity. This is a new plan tor industrials, and I expect to see it put in operation on such a basis as will make it most inviting to men engaged in commercial enterprises.' This, of course, will be understood as general talk, and not as having any bearing upon the pottery question. My reason for giving it is that it is a good suggestion, carrying with it the idea that such an institution as a clearing house may be applied to trade as well and as successfully as it is applied to finance."

President Marshal stated the purpose of the meeting was to pass the 12 mills tax ordinance the finance committee decided upon at a recent meeting. INSIDE THE THEATER.

Customs at the German Plays Unlike Those of American Audiences.

The audiences that gather at the German theater in Irving place are unlike those seen at any other playhouse in town. During the recent engagement of Agnes Sorma there, the audiences were exceptionally large and offered a striking illustration of the difference between them and the gatherings in the theaters devoted to English plays. The quiet of the spectators is the first noticeable difference. Nobody speaks even quietly to his neighbor without leaning over so closely to him that the sound could not possibly disturb anybody else. Even then the whisperer is likely to be reminded by a rebuke from in front or behind. The slightest noise interrupts the course of the spectators' enjoyment and that is something which will not be tolerated by the serious playgoers of the German theater. The only talking they propose to hear is that of the actors on the stage. Applause very rarely comes until the close of the act. Then, if the performance be worthy, the acknowledgment is unrestrainedly cordial. Laughter at the funny points of a farce is never repressed. That indulgence is unrestrained. In comic opera the applause is quite as common as it is at the other theaters, and the audiences like encores quite as much as those who hear them in English.

It is in the quiet moments of a serious play, however, especially when the scene leads to an exciting climax, that the mood of the audience is most characteristic. Then from the orchestra seats to the crowded gallery the spectators are intensely absorbed in every movement and every word of the actors. When the climax has come and this tension is released, it can be immediately felt, although there is no applause or any audible outbreak. The feeling runs through the house and the emotions are relaxed. But the customary relief is not expressed as it usual v is in other theaters by applause. Tha nust wait until the curtain falls.

Like all German theaters the world over, the Irving Place is dreadfully overheated. Fresh air is all very well when one sits im freien, but indoors everything must be appropriately stuffy and hot. So the German theater in New York frequently becomes distressingly warm. But the regular audiences do not appear to object to it. Many of the men leave the theater between the acts and smoke in the lobby, more, possibly, than would usually be found in an American audience. Some of the women occasionally retire to the lobby, but the number of those who follow the example of the men is small. Possibly if the theater had a foyer as large as those in Europe the audience would retire just as those in Germany do. But that custom has never become popular here, and there is the added attraction of an orchestra to keep the audience seated between the acts. Very few of the continental theaters have orchestras.

The cloakroom system exists to a greater extent in the German theater than it does at any other place excepting the Metropolitan. Cloaks and hats are deposited at the garderobe with regularity, and the men as well as the women are patrons of this branch of the theater. The rule about hats is a qualified one. The management asks only that those hats which interfere with the view of persons behind shall be removed. Others are not forbidden. Few are ed. Others are not forbidden. Few are worn, however, and it is interesting to see the size of those that are retained. They may not be triumphs of millinery, but they show that women sometimes think of other things than beauty or fashion when they get a hat—that they think, in fact, of the persons who may sit in the row behind them at the theater. - New York Sun.

Latinized English.

There was a period in the history of English literature, says Professor Mark H. Liddell in The Atlantic, when the ideal of a perfect sentence was one in which English thought was so run into a classic mold as to make the English reader stand on his head to see the meaning of it. That was because the obvious fact in most Latin sentences was a periodic structure. It was an easy road to beautiful expression to assume this perfection for English sentences and make them conform to it. Men shut their eyes to a multiplicity of form in English writing which they did not understand and chose out of a foreign tongue a single form which they did. In the same way a false type of beauty has often been set up in high places where men should look for a real

London Book Thieves.

Suckling, the book seller, gave me quite a little chat on book thieves the other day. "Book thieves," said he, "are most plentiful. They are also most audacious in disposing of their stolen wares. One of them did me rather neatly not long ago. I was sitting in my shop, thinking no harm, when a rather clerical looking man came in and offered me an abridged edition of Littre's Dictionary at £1. Of course I bought it. Judge my surprise when I found out about two hours afterward that the clerical looking gentleman had stolen that conv of Littre's Dictionary from the stall in front of my own shop! I may add that I had the satisfaction of recovering some volumes and jugging that respectable clerical looking gentleman, who, as I afterward found, had been doing many of my confreres in the same artistically nonchalant manner." —London Correspondence.

THINK WELL OF TRUST

Trenton Likes the Idea of the Combination.

ONE MAN GIVES HIS VIEWS

A Great Many Reasons Advanced For the Founding of Trade Clearing Houses. Does Not Think Firms Would Lose Their Individuality.

The formation of a crockery trust is finding favor in Trenton. The Trenton correspondent of a trade paper says

"One of the general topics is the possibility, not to say probability, of a syndicate of pottery manufacturers. This subject has been talked about so much ing illustration of the difference bethat it cannot be regarded any longer as a close secret. But the discussion of the question is quite another matter, as it has not as yet assumed that degree of tangibility which gives assurance of a positive organization.

"One man, who claims to know how these things are done, said that it was the tendency of large industrial bodies to concentrate, and that if there was no other object to be gained by it the advantage of putting a stop to misrepresentations of prices would more than compensate for all the disadvantages that might arise from minor difficulties. 'But,' he added, 'it is not necessary for individuals or firms to lose their identity by merging their concerns into one great organization. What is wanted in modern manufacturing and merchandising is a clearing house on the principle adopted by the big banking institutions—with a man at the head of it whose character shall be such that every member will place the utmost confidence in his judgment and probity. This is a new plan tor industrials, and I expect to see it put in operation on such a basis as will make it most inviting to men engaged in commercial enterprises.' This, of course, will be understood as general talk, and not as having any bearing upon the pottery question. My reason for giving it is that it is a good suggestion, carrying with it the idea that such an institution as a clearing house may be applied to trade as well and as successfully as it is applied to finance."

PASSED THE ORDINANCE.

Council Transacted It's Business In a Few Minutes.

Council held a special meeting to pass the tax levy ordinance last evening and all members except Mr. Ashbaugh were present.

President Marshal stated the purpose of the meeting was to pass the 12 mills tax ordinance the finance committee decided upon at a recent meeting. The levy was passed under the suspension of the rules. Some of the members thought it would be advisable to hold a meeting Monday evening to talk of road improvements, and this was agreed to.

INSIDE THE THEATER.

Customs at the German Plays Unlike Those of American Audiences.

The audiences that gather at the German theater in Irving place are unlike those seen at any other playhouse in town. During the recent engagement of Agnes Sorma there, the audiences were exceptionally large and offered a striktween them and the gatherings in the theaters devoted to English plays. The quiet of the spectators is the first noticeable difference. Nobody speaks even quietly to his neighbor without leaning over so closely to him that the sound could not possibly disturb anybody else. Even then the whisperer is likely to be reminded by a rebuke from in front or behind. The slightest noise interrupts the course of the spectators' enjoyment and that is something which will not be tolerated by the serious playgoers of the German theater. The only talking they propose to hear is that of the actors on the stage. Applause very rarely comes until the close of the act. Then, if the performance be worthy, the acknowledgment is unrestrainedly cordial. Laughter at the funny points of a farce is never repressed. That indulgence is unrestrained. In comic opera the applause is quite as common as it is at the other theaters, and the audiences like encores quite as much as those who hear them in English.

It is in the quiet moments of a serious play, however, especially when the scene leads to an exciting climax, that the mood of the audience is most characteristic. Then from the orchestra seats to the crowded gallery the spectators are intensely absorbed in every movement and every word of the actors. When the climax has come and this tension is released, it can be immediately felt, although there is no applause or any audible outbreak. The feeling runs through the house and the emotions are relaxed. But the customary relief is not expressed as it usual v is in other theaters by applause. Tha nust wait until the curtain falls.

Like all German theaters the world overheated. Fresh air is all very well when one sits im freien, but indoors everything must be appropriately stuffy and hot. So the German theater in New York frequently becomes distressingly warm. But the regular audiences do not appear to object to it. Many of the men over, the Irving Place is dreadfully appear to object to it. Many of the men leave the theater between the acts and smoke in the lobby, more, possibly, than would usually be found in an American audience. Some of the women occasionally retire to the lobby, but the number of those who follow the example of the men is small. Possibly if the theater had a foyer as large as those in Europe the audience would retire just as those in Germany do. But that custom has never become popular here, and there is the added attraction of an orchestra to keep the audience seated between the acts. Very few of the continental theaters have orchestras.

The cloakroom system exists to a greater extent in the German theater than it does at any other place excepting the Metropolitan. Cloaks and hats are deposited at the garderobe with regularity, and the men as well as the women are patrons of this branch of the theater. The rule about hats is a qualified one. The management asks only that those hats which interfere with the view of persons behind shall be removed. Others are not forbidden. Few are worn, however, and it is interesting to see the size of those that are retained. They may not be triumphs of millinery, but they show that women sometimes think of other things than beauty or fashion when they get a hat—that they think, in fact, of the persons who may sit in the row behind them at the there. sit in the row behind them at the theater. - New York Sun.

Latinized English.

There was a period in the history of English literature, says Professor Mark H. Liddell in The Atlantic, when the ideal of a perfect sentence was one in which English thought was so run into a classic mold as to make the English reader stand on his head to see the meaning of it. That was because the obvious fact in most Latin sentences was a periodic structure. It was an easy road to beautiful expression to assume this perfection for English sentences and make them conform to it. Men shut their eyes to a multiplicity of form in English writing which they did not understand and chose out of a foreign tongue a single form which they did. In the same way a false type of beauty has often been set up in high places where men should look for a real

Suckling, the book seller, gave me quite a little chat on book thieves the other day. "Book thieves," said he, "are most plentiful. They are also most audacious in disposing of their stolen wares. One of them did me rather neatly not long ago. I was sitting in my shop, thinking no harm, when a rather clerical looking man came in and offered me an abridged edition of Littre's Dictionary at £1. Of course I bought it. Judge my surprise when I found out about two hours afterward that the clerical looking gentleman had stolen

the stall in front of my own shop! I may add that I had the satisfaction of recovering some volumes and jugging that respectable clerical looking gentleman, who, as I afterward found, had been doing many of my confreres in the same artistically nonchalant manner." —London Correspondence.

A chime made of 18 bronze tubes arranged in two parallel rows and struck by hammers working from a keyboard has been set up in the town hall of Levallois-Perret, near Paris. The tubes vary in length from 41/2 to 9 feet, and that conv of Littre's Dictionary from in weight from 57 to 100 pounds.

A BIG BUNCH OF THEM

Will Want to Go to the Ohio 7-18 Legislature.

TWO NOMINATIONS NEXT TIME

East Liverpool and Vicinity Will Have Their Candidates, West Township Will Have One, and Middleton Two-There May Be More to Hear From.

Columbiana county will not nominate members of the legislature until next spring, but the situation is already becoming complicated, and a number of candidates are in the field.

Next year we will be represented by two legislators instead of one, and from present indications there will be many more than enough candidates to go around. It is also probable that others will appear before the ticket for the primary is made up.

It is now known that East Liverpool will have two candidates, while the friends of D. J. Smith are urging him to enter the lists. He made a splendid race before, and but for those returns from Washington township would have been elected. His long service in the party and the fact that he is personally known to thousands of Columbiana's people are given as sufficient reasons that he should become a candidate and go to work at once.

Two aspirants are said to reside in Middleton township, where they have been carefully preparing their plans and nursing their ambition until the right time would come. Another is from West township, and although he may not enter it is believed that he is prepared if the chances look bright.

It is possible there will be others, but even with this number a warm time is expected next spring.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 5. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-Christ's mission on earth.-John x,

Christ's mission on earth was to "seek and to save that which was lost;" it was to give divine life to those who had lost it by sin and who could not whether a member of the order or interested sole object of His coming into the world, by His own testimony, was to world, by His own testimony, was to give this divine, spiritual life, which Return limit June 28th.

To Dallas, Texas.—June 11th and 12th, account meeting of Nobles of Mystic Shrine. would result in man's salvation. "I am come," He says, "that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." This divine life was the greatest need of man, and in making it possible Christ became the greatest benefactor of the human race.

Christ's mission to give life was a mission of unselfishness. He came not to receive, but to give. False Christs had arisen, hirelings, but their concern was not for the sheep, who needed life, but for themselves. In a moment of danger they were ready to flee, willing to sacrifice the sheep if necessary to save themselves. They were thieves and hirelings, inspired alone by self advantage and self aggrandizement.

Christ's mission was fulfilled by the giving of His own life. "I am the Good Shepherd; the Good Shepherd giveth His life for the sheep." "I lay down My life for the sheep." He died Himself that others might have life. It was necessary that Christ should die before man could have life. We may differ as to the cause of the necessity, but cannot deny the fact. Christ Himself has testified to this necessity. "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so the Son of Man must (necessity) be lifted up" to give eternal life. To the disciples on the way to Emmaus, after His resurrection, He said, "Ought not Christ to have suffered these things and to have entered into glory?" Thus Christ Himself declares the necessity of His death, and by His death alone was He able to gain life, to accomplish His mission on earth. It was only when He had been lifted up and the end of life was immediately before Him that He could exclaim, "It is finished." Then and then only had He performed the work that God had given Him to do.

Christ's mission should be the mission of all Christians. As His one aim in life was to give spiritual and eternal life to those who had it not, so this should be our aim and our mission. And as in His case it required self sacrifice to accomplish it, so it will in ours. Christians live too much to themselves and for themselves. Our Master lived for others, leaving us an example that we should follow. His last commission to His disciples was "Go and preach to every creature," seek and save that which is lost. Are we doing what Jesus did when upon earth? Are we doing what Jesus would do were He in our places today? Millions are calling for this resort has grown into popular favor the bread of life. Let us not send them very rapidly. Improvements made on away, but let us hear His voice saying the two hundred acres of romantic to us "Give ye them to eat," and let us

A Christian Greeting.

Whether or not a church is marked by a genuinely hospitable spirit is to be determined not by the amount of sociability among its own members, but by their attitude toward strangers. He was a wise pastor who counseled his people the other day not to stop and speak to their friends after the service, but to seek out and extend a welcome to those who were not customary attendants. It sometimes happens that even in a church which has great reputation for sociability strangers come and go without so much as being accosted. The reason is that everybody is so much absorbed in saluting his own friends that, however good his intentions may be, he overlooks the outsiders. There are other places and times which offer opportunities for intercourse with your friends, but when you are in the house of God seize the chance to give a Christian greeting to any who may feel themselves alone and friendless. It requires some courage to approach an entire stranger, whose demeanor in many cases does not invite you to take the initiative. Probably, however, if you tried it oftener you would find it easier. -Congregationalist.

Trust.

Trust is applied faith. It is confidence in a person. The difference between faith and trust may be stated by a preposition. It is often so stated in the Scripture when the preposition in or on is connected with believing. Devils may believe that there is a God, but only disciples of Jesus believe on Him unto everlasting life. We believe a doctrine; we trust a person. What we believe about Christ is one thing, what we trust in Christ for is another. -Christian Intelligencer.

Socialistic Extremes.

Wallace-The very idea of socialism is ridiculous. Ferry-Do you really think so?

Wallace-Of course I do. Just fancy your clothes not belonging but to the common stock. That sort of thing is all right with umbrellas and cigars, but it ought to go no further. -

A BIG BUNCH OF THEM

Will Want to Go to the Ohio Legislature.

TWO NOMINATIONS NEXT TIME

East Liverpool and Vicinity Will Have Their Candidates, West Township Will Have One, and Middleton Two-There May Be More to Hear From,

Columbiana county will not nominate members of the legislature until next spring, but the situation is already becoming complicated, and a number of candidates are in the field.

Next year we will be represented by two legislators instead of one, and from present indications there will be many more than enough candidates to go around. It is also probable that others will appear before the ticket for the primary is made up.

It is now known that East Liverpool will have two candidates, while the friends of D. J. Smith are urging him to enter the lists. He made a splendid race before, and but for those returns from Washington township would have been elected. His long service in the party and the fact that he is personally known to thousands of Columbiana's people are given as sufficient reasons go to work at once. Two aspirants are said to reside in Middleton township, where they have been carefully preparing their plans and nursing their ambition until the right time would come. Another is from West township, and although he may not enter it is believed that he is prepared if the chances look bright.

It is possible there will be others, but even with this number a warm time is expected next spring.

On the River.

The wickets at the Davis dam have been raised and the river is falling as a result. The marks at the wharf at noon today registered 50 inches. There is no prospect of an immediate rise.

The Bedford and Will J. Cummins went down last night, and the Lorena and Virginia is due down tonight.

The Keystone State, Ben Hur and Kanawha are due up tomorrow, but as the river is so low they are making slow time.

Don't forget the usual Sunday concert at Rock Spring tomorrow afternoon. The music furnished by Nowling's orchestra is the finest and never fails to please. Admission, adults, 10 cents. Children free.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 5. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. TOPIC.-Christ's mission on earth.-John x,

Christ's mission on earth was to "seek and to save that which was lost;" it was to give divine life to those who had lost it by sin and who could not obtain it in any other way. The one sole object of His coming into the world, by His own testimony, was to give this divine, spiritual life, which would result in man's salvation. "I am come," He says, "that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." This divine life was the greatest need of man, and in making it possible Christ became the greatest benefactor of the human race.

Christ's mission to give life was a mission of unselfishness. He came not to receive, but to give. False Christs had arisen, hirelings, but their concern was not for the sheep, who needed life, but for themselves. In a moment of danger they were ready to flee, willing to sacrifice the sheep if necessary to save themselves. They were thieves and hirelings, inspired alone by self advantage and self aggrandizement. Christ's mission was fulfilled by the giving of His own life. "I am the Good Shepherd; the Good Shepherd giveth His life for the sheep." "I lay down My life for the sheep." He died Himself that others might have life. It was necessary that Christ should die before man could have life. We may differ as to the cause of the necessity, but cannot deny the fact. Christ Himself has testified to this necessity. "As Moses that he should become a candidate and lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so the Son of Man must (necessity) be lifted up" to give eternal life. To the disciples on the way to Emmaus, after His resurrection, He said, "Ought not Christ to have suffered these things and to have entered into glory?" Thus Christ Himself declares the necessity of His death, and by His death alone was He able to gain life, to accomplish His mission on earth. It was only when He had been lifted up and the end of life was immediately before Him that He could exclaim, "It is finished." Then and then only had He performed the work that God had given Him to do. Christ's mission should be the mission of all Christians. As His one aim in life was to give spiritual and eternal life to those who had it not, so this should be our aim and our mission. And as in His case it required self sacrifice to accomplish it, so it will in ours. Christians live too much to themselves and for themselves. Our Master lived for others, leaving us an example that we should follow. His last commission to His disciples was "Go and preach to every creature," seek and save that which is lost. Are we doing what Jesus did when upon earth? Are we doing what Jesus would do were He in our places today? Millions are calling for this resort has grown into popular favor the bread of life. Let us not send them very rapidly. Improvements made on away, but let us hear His voice saying the two hundred acres of romantic to us "Give ye them to eat," and let us

A Christian Greeting.

Whether or not a church is marked by a genuinely hospitable spirit is to be determined not by the amount of sociability among its own members, but by their attitude toward strangers. He was a wise pastor who counseled his people the other day not to stop and speak to their friends after the service, but to seek out and extend a welcome to those who were not customary attendants. It sometimes happens that even in a church which has great reputation for sociability strangers come and go without so much as being accosted. The reason is that everybody is so much absorbed in saluting his own friends that, however good his intentions may be, he overlooks the outsiders. There are other places and times which offer opportunities for intercourse with your friends, but when you are in the house of God seize the chance to give a Christian greeting to any who may feel themselves alone and friendless. It requires some courage to approach an entire stranger, whose demeanor in many cases does not invite you to take the initiative. Probably, however, if you tried it oftener you would find it easier. -Congregationalist.

Trust.

Trust is applied faith. It is confidence in a person. The difference between faith and trust may be stated by a preposition. It is often so stated in the Scripture when the preposition in or on is connected with believing. Devils may believe that there is a God, but only disciples of Jesus believe on Him unto everlasting life. We believe a doctrine; we trust a person. What we believe about Christ is one thing, what we trust in Christ for is another. -Christian Intelligencer.

Socialistic Extremes.

Wallace-The very idea of socialism is ridiculous. Ferry-Do you really think so?

Wallace-Of course I do. Just fancy your clothes not belonging but to the common stock. That sort of thing is all right with umbrellas and cigars, but it ought to go no further. -

Mayor Bough Had His Hands Full.

SALTY DOSES WERE GIVEN OUT

Five Dollars and Costs Was the Regulation Punishment-John Cain Was Released as No Charge Was Filed -- He Was Arrested on Suspicion.

There were only two plain drunks for the mayor to dispose of this morning, and short work was made in each case.

Ollie Reed, who said he was from Rochester, was arrested last night by Officer Whan for being drunk in West Market street. He was given a hearing this morning, and after pleading guilty was fined $9.60. He paid and was released.

John Nolan, of Grove City, Pa., for being drunk and sleeping in Washington street vesterday, was fined $9.60. He paid and was liberated. He was arrested by Officer Grim, and given a ride in the patrol. When Nolan was searched $23.45 was found on his person, and his fine was paid out of this amount.

H. J. Miller and wife, the Spaniards, who were arrested at Mingo Junction for stealing a skiff, were to be taken to Lisbon this afternoon, and on Monday they will receive a sentence from Judge Boone, of the probate court.

Mayor Bough decided to dispose of the case in this manner as he was only able to send the offenders to jail, but in court they will no doubt receive a term in the work house. It is the intention and as a result no calls were answered of the authorities to break up this class of people who make this section their home, and they will be severely dealt with when a complaint is made.

Louis Call, who 'was bound over to court yesterday afternoon in default of $100 bail, was to be taken to Lisbon this afternoon. He found no one who would go his bail.

John Cain, whose arrest was caused yesterday by Mrs. Gribben, was released last night. No charge could be found Miss Decker, who has been visiting upon which the man could be held and Humphries and Ebberts and William Call, who were arrested by Officers Mc-Millan, Woods and Chief Johnson yesterday, are still in custody. The authorities are almost sure they can find some evidence of taking beer against Ebberts and Humphries, and they will be detained until some definite investigation Mr. and Mrs. Edward Holtzman is made. Call will be given a hearing company, will be an important witness, Special Officer Tinson, of the street as it was he who secured the wire from witnesses in the case live in Wellsville. It may be possible that more will be heard of this case within a few days.

> There have been more people in jail this week than since Mayor Bough took the oath of office.

> Joseph Martin who is in jail in default of $150 bail on a charge against him in Squire Hill's court, will be taken to Lisbon Monday unless he is able to find the required bail. It is thought he will take the trip.

Dr. Gould's Great Work.

Though the determination of the places of the fixed stars in the northern hemisphere has engaged the attention of many observatories during the whole of this century and our knowledge of the places of the northern stars would therefore presumably be nearly perfect, it is a fact that Dr. Gould's work upon the southern skies practically equalized our knowledge of the two celestial hemispheres, says Professor T. J. J. See in The Atlantic. Such an achieve; lent is a veritable monument to the American nation and has added new luster to the American name. Had the American people never contributed anything beyond the labors of Gould to the world's knowledge of astronomy this magnificent contribution alone would entitle the nation to an honorable place in the eyes of posterity.

And yet how little is the work of Gould known to even the best circle of American readers! So great was his devotion to the cause of pure science and so oblivious was he of contemporary fame that none but professional men of science are able to appreciate his incomparable services to the sublimest of the sciences. It is certain that he has gained a place among the greatest astronomers of any age or country and that the estimate now placed on his work will only increase with the flight of centuries. If England is justly proud of her Newton and Herschel, France of Leonardo and Galilei, well may America honor her Fierce and Gould!

A Cardinal's Stories.

"I'm afraid I can't tell you," answered Cardinal Wiseman on some one asking the names of several choice plants on the table. "I am often as much puzzled by botanical nomenclature as the old lady who said she couldn't remember all the old Latin names. The only two she had been able to retain were aurora borealis and delirium tremens."

The cardinal thoroughly enjoyed humorous stories and often told them at his table. "I have seen Father Faber," writes the author of "Social Hours With Celebrities," "at the cardinal's table, laugh till the tears rolled down his face."

A story which the cardinal enjoyed much was that of an Irishman, who, while taking a barge up the Shannon, was asked what goods he had on board, and answered, "Timber and fruit."

"What kind of timber and what sort of fruit?'

"Well, an if ye must know, the timber is just birch brooms, and the fruit, well, it's pretaties."

An Irishman averred that the habit of Irish landlords of living outside of Ireland was the great grievance Ireland had to complain of.

"Oh, yes," answered an Englishman, 'that's the old stalking horse. I don't believe in your absentees."

"Not belave in 'em! Come to Dublin with me, and I'll show ye 'em by the hundred. Why, the country just swarms with 'em."

Why Elephants Fear Mice.

It seems incredible that so small and harmless an animal as a mouse is able to frighten an elephant almost out of his senses. One little mouse in the hay on which they are feeding will stampede an entire herd. In their native land there are little animals, known as chacanas, which feed on a small, sour berry of which elephants are very fond. They live in settlements, something after the manner of prairie dogs, under the berry bushes.

When feeding, the elephants trample the little towns, and the chacanas, in their fright, run up the tubes of the elephants' trunks. Their long, sharp claws catch in the flesh, and they cannot be ejected. The more violently the monster blows through its coiled trunk the more firmly the hooked claws of the little animal become imbedded in the flesh. Inflammation and death are the result. In captivity the elephants think they are in danger of the deadly chacanas when they see a mouse.—New York

Ways of Actors. In the country one has few opportunities of meeting these children of nature. Occasionally one sees an individual or a company at the railway stations, and kinson. en it is enrious to note how instinctively they treat the platform as a stage have originated from the consumption of and take up the important positions on it. I wonder if acting now is as lucrative a profession as it was under Elizabeth. Shakespeare, we are told, got nothing to speak of for his plays, but made his fortune as an actor, and Alleyne, another actor, after providing for his family, founded Dulwich school. Another curious point about actors is that they should not be content with their own names, like painters and writers, but take names, the ladies especially, that belong to other people. Is there no property in names? N. told me of a model of his who wished to go upon the music hall stage and whom he asked, "What should you call yourself?" "Oh, Alice Burne-Jones, certainly."-Cornhill Magazine.

The Traveling Frenchman.

The Petit Journal of Paris says that nothing is so curious and instructive as to observe the Englishman when traveling as compared with the Frenchman. The former is calm, punctual, precise and with only the necessary quantity of baggage. He will journey through China with merely a valise. He is not impatient. He loves travel. It is to him an inclination and a felt want. On the other hand, the Frenchman when journeying is restless, nervous, impatient, bored; the entire time he spends looking furtively at his watch or consulting the railway time table. He is always crowded up with parcels in addition to his portmanteau. He is, as a rule, incumbered with many useless articles. In fact, he dislikes travel, which he finds an ennui and a fatigue.

The Pope and Rome.

The Osservatore Romano thus explains why the pope does not appear on the streets of Rome: "If the pope went about in Rome, he would inevitably be made the object of demonstrations of respectful enthusiasm on the part of the faithful, and by a natural reaction these demonstrations would be followed by others of a hostile character. The pope would be simultaneously applauded and hissed and surrounded by tumults and faction fights. The government would render military honors to him, but it could not long tolerate in the streets of Rome demonstrations in favor of the pope, who, after all, is a dispossessed sovereign.

Self Our Principle. When self is our principle and end, we rise no higher than ourselves, but when God becometh the life of our soul we follow after Him and rise far above the highest point to which nature could conduct us. - Episcopal Recorder.

A MONTH OF WAR.

Jun's Review Notes Less Failures This May Than the Same Month Last Year.

NEW YORK, June 4 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, says in part: "May having been the first month of actual war the fact that failures in that month were smaller, even though but little, than in the corresponding month last year, and nearly 10 per cent smaller than in May, 1896, is somewhat encouraging, the more because a year ago the remarkable decrease in May gave proof of the heavy improvement in business which made the year so gratifying in general results. Large failures were ight in manufacturing for $2,385,000 this year, against 13 for $2,965,000 last year, and in trading five for $690,000, against ten for $1,572,077 in 1897. Hesitation in extending usual credits soon after war began naturally affected weak more than strong concerns, but it soon gave place to steady and increasing confidence."

"Wheat dropped 74 cents from the highest point after the May deal culminated, and has since been weaker for July, because of accounts promising an enormous yield, with $1.15 still paid for No. 2 red in elevator. Exports of wheat and corn are large.

"Woolen mills are encouraged by a somewhat larger demand for goods, in part from government orders and are averaging about 1 per cent better prices for goods than a month ago. There is not much of a demand for wool, which is still held in the main above the views of manufacturers and prices have declined an average of half a cent for the month.

"The iron and steel manufacture leads all others in gain over previous "Failures for the week have been 222 in the United States, against 241 last year, and 16 in Canada, against 32 last year.

MRS. ATKINSON'S CASE.

She Is Left Indirectly In the Case and May Go Entirely Free.

WHEELING, June 4.—It is now known that the grand jury will not present a new indictment against Mrs. Atkinson, the wife of Governor Atkinson, the first indictment of whom on a charge of forgery, was dismissed on a technicality by Judge Blizzard Thursday. This removes the direct charge from Mrs. Atkinson for the present, but leaves her indirectly in the case.

Owens, who was indicted as a party to the alleged forgery of receipts signed by Judge Camden's name, is on trial, and should he be found guilty it might be possible to reindict Mrs. Atkinson, as she has made no denial of being the writer of the papers Owens is alleged to have uttered. Owens' acquittal would be an additional triumph for Mrs. At-

Though the determination of the places of the fixed stars in the northern hemisphere has engaged the attention of many observatories during the whole of this century and our knowledge of the places of the northern stars would therefore presumably be nearly perfect, it is a fact that Dr. Gould's work upon the southern skies practically equalized our knowledge of the two celestial hemispheres, says Professor T. J. J. See in The Atlantic. Such an achievement is a veritable monument to the American nation and has added new luster to the American name. Had the American people never contributed anything beyond the labors of Gould to the world's knowledge of astronomy this magnificent contribution alone would entitle the nation to an honorable place in the eyes of posterity. And yet how little is the work of Gould known to even the best circle of American readers! So great was his devotion to the cause of pure science and so oblivious was he of contemporary fame that none but professional meu of science are able to appreciate his incomparable services to the sublimest of the sciences. It is certain that he has gained a place among the greatest astronomers of any age or country and that the estimate now placed on his work will only increase with the flight of centuries. If England is justly proud of her Newton and Herschel, France of

"I'm afraid I can't tell you," answered Cardinal Wiseman on some one asking the names of several choice plants on the table. "I am often as much puzzled by botanical nomenclature as the old lady who said she couldn't remember all the ola Latin names. The only two she had been able to retain were aurora borealis and delirium tremens."

The cardinal thoroughly enjoyed hu-morous stories and often told them at his table. "I have seen Father Faber," writes the author of "Social Hours With Celebrities," "at the cardinal's table, laugh till the tears rolled down his face."

A story which the cardinal enjoyed much was that of an Irishman, who, while taking a barge up the Shannon, was asked what goods he had on board, and answered, "Timber and fruit."

"What kind of timber and what sort of fruit?"

"Well, an if ye must know, the timber is just birch brooms, and the fruit, well, it's pretaties."

An Irishman averred that the habit of Irish landlords of living outside of Ireland was the great grievance Ireland had to complain of.

"Oh, yes," answered an Englishman, "that's the old stalking horse. I don't believe in your absentees."

"Not belave in 'em! Come to Dublin with me, and I'll show ye 'em by the hundred. Why, the country just swarms with 'em."

Why Elephants Fear Mice.

It seems incredible that so small and harmless an animal as a mouse is able to frighten an elephant almost out of his senses. One little mouse in the hay on which they are feeding will stampede an entire herd. In their native land there are little animals, known as chacanas, which feed on a small, sour berry of which elephants are very fond. They live in settlements, something after the manner of prairie dogs, under the berry bushes.

When feeding, the elephants trample the little towns, and the chacanas, in their fright, run up the tubes of the elephants' trunks. Their long, sharp claws catch in the flesh, and they cannot be ejected. The more violently the monster blows through its coiled trunk the more firmly the hooked claws of the little animal become imbedded in the flesh. Inflammation and death are the result. In captivity the elephants think they are in danger of the deadly chacanas when they see a mouse.-New York Sun.

Ways of Actors.

In the country one has few opportunities of meeting these children of nature. Occasionally one sees an individual or a company at the railway stations, and kinson. then it is curious to note how instinctively they treat the platform as a stage and take up the important positions on it. I wonder if acting now is as lucrative a profession as it was under Elizabeth. Shakespeare, we are told, got nothing to speak of for his plays, but made his fortune as an actor, and Alleyne, another actor, after providing for his family, founded Dulwich school. Another curious point about actors is that they should not be content with their own names, like painters and writers, but take names, the ladies especially, that belong to other people. Is there no property in names? N. told me of a model of his who wished to go upon the music hall stage and whom he asked, "What should you call yourself?" "Oh, Alice Burne-Jones, certainly."-Cornhill Magazine.

The Traveling Frenchman.

The Petit Journal of Paris says that nothing is so curious and instructive as to observe the Englishman when traveling as compared with the Frenchman. The former is calm, punctual, precise and with only the necessary quantity of baggage. He will journey through China with merely a valise. He is not impatient. He loves travel. It is to him an inclination and a felt want. On the other hand, the Frenchman when journeying is restless, nervous, impatient, bored; the entire time he spends looking furtively at his watch or consulting the railway time table. He is always crowded up with parcels in addition to his portmanteau. He is, as a rule, incumbered with many useless articles. In fact, he dislikes travel, which he finds an ennui and a fatigue.

The Pope and Rome.

The Osservatore Romano thus explains why the pope does not appear on the streets of Rome: "If the pope went about in Rome, he would inevitably be made the object of demonstrations of respectful enthusiasm on the part of the faithful, and by a natural reaction these demonstrations would be followed by others of a hostile character. The pope would be simultaneously applauded and hissed and surrounded by tumults and faction fights. The government would render military honors to him, but it could not long tolerate in the streets of Rome demonstrations in favor of the Campbell. pope, who, after all, is a dispossessed sovereign.

A MONTH OF WAR.

dun's Review Notes Less Failures This May Than the Same Month Last Year.

NEW YORK, June 4.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, says in part: "May having been the first month of actual war the fact that failures in that month were smaller, even though but little, than in the corresponding month last year, and nearly 10 per cent smaller than in May, 1896, is somewhat encouraging, the more because a year ago the remarkable decrease in May gave proof of the heavy improvement in business which made the year so gratifying in general results. Large failures were eight in manufacturing for $2,385,000 this year, against 13 for $2,965,000 last year, and in trading five for $690,000, against ten for $1,572,077 in 1897. Hesitation in extending usual credits soon after war began naturally affected weak more than strong concerns, but it soon gave place to steady and increasing confidence."

"Woolen mills are encouraged by a somewhat larger demand for goods, in part from government orders and are averaging about 1 per cent better prices for goods than a month ago. There is not much of a demand for wool, which is still held in the main above the views of manufacturers and prices have declined an average of half a cent for the month.

MRS. ATKINSON'S CASE.

Left Indirectly In the Case and May Go Entirely Free.

WHEELING, June 4.-It is now known that the grand jury will not present a new indictment against Mrs. Atkinson, the wife of Governor Atkinson, the first indictment of whom on a charge of forgery, was dismissed on a technicality by Judge Blizzard Thursday. This removes the direct charge from Mrs. Atkinson for the present, but leaves her indirectly in the case.

Owens, who was indicted as a party to the alleged forgery of receipts signed by Judge Camden's name, is on trial, and should he be found guilty it might be possible to reindict Mrs. Atkinson, as she has made no denial of being the writer of the papers Owens is alleged to have uttered. Owens' acquittal would be an additional triumph for Mrs. At-
